

Description

This is not your typical Geranium. It has thrived for many years in a shallow space surrounded by pavers, in full sun, here at the farm. Tougher than its woodland cousins it tolerates full sun; though it is a slower spreader than Sedum, it can be used as a ground cover or as an accent. Green foliage turns red in fall before dormancy. Flowers are pink.

We currently only stock small quantities of this plant. Contact us to discuss lead times for custom grows of larger quantities.

Profile

- Botanical Name: Geranium x cantabrigiense 'Bikovo'
- Family: Geraniaceae
- Plant Type: Hardy Perennial
- Plant Usage: Accent or slow-growing Ground Cover
- Hardiness Zone: 5-8
- Foliage Color: Green
- Flower Color: Pink
- Bloom Time: Spring
- Winter Interest: Dormant
- Height: 8"
- Spread: 12"
- Light Requirement: Full Sun to Part Shade
- Origin: Cultivated
- Self Sowing: No - Sterile
- Shade Tolerant: Partial
- Substitutes: Phlox subulata, Allium senescens ssp. montanum var. glaucum,